

College of Human Sciences

Women's Philanthropy Board

Presents

“Today’s Decisions for Tomorrow’s Money: Financial Facts Every Woman Should Know”

As women’s financial success continues to grow, so do their financial responsibilities, including navigating a career, family issues, and retirement. Take advantage of this informative session to help you gain a better understanding of a woman’s unique financial needs!

Friday, January 25, 2008

11:45 – 1:00 “Dutch Treat” Luncheon

Ariccia Restaurant, Private Dining Room

Auburn University Hotel and Dixon Conference Center

RSVP by January 20, 2008: WPB Office 334-844-9199 wpbchs1@auburn.edu

Katye Delashaw is a financial advisor/financial planning specialist with Smith Barney investment firm in Montgomery, AL. Before joining Smith Barney in 1999, Katye was employed by Gayfer’s Department Stores Southeast Division. She began her career as a group buyer and was promoted to Divisional Merchandise Manager for the nineteen Southeast division stores.

For the past eight years, Katye has been a contributing writer for the Montgomery Advertiser’s Tuesday Focus. She has been active in speaking to various civic clubs and client seminars. Katye graduated from Auburn Montgomery in 1982, with high honors, with a BS degree in secondary education.

Katye Delashaw
Citi Smith Barney
Montgomery, Alabama

Ms. Delashaw will address topics such as:

- Financial planning strategies for women
- Calculating retirement income
- Long-term care needs
- Ten steps to financial fitness

Auburn University is an equal opportunity educational institution/employer.